

I Will Sing Of God, Triumphant In Glory

Responsorial Song from Exodus 15 for Reading 3, Easter Vigil

Tony Barr

I will sing of God, triumphant in glory;
horse and rider were cast into the sea.
My strength, my courage is from God,
the Only One, my Savior.

This is the God in whom I trust,
in whom my people find their consolation.

For God is a warrior, a Holy God!
Pharaoh's soldiers and chariots were tossed into the sea,
the flower of his army submerged by the Red Sea!
The waves of water covered them,
they sank to the depths like a stone!

Your right hand, O God,, is magnificent in power,
your right hand, O God, has broken the enemy.
How glorious your power!
You crushed the foe, you routed our captors!

You brought together the people that you had redeemed,
and planted them on the mountain that you had promised them,
the holy ground, where you have made your home,
the sacred place which your hands have made,
where you shall reign for ages unending.
