

You Have Come To Our Land, Bearing Water

Responsorial Song from Psalm 92 for Sunday 8C

Tony Barr

The seed that falls on good ground will yield a fruitful harvest.

You have come to our land bearing water,
and have made it fertile, with grain.
From the hillsides, you water the pasture
and bring the earth to sing with every fruit.

You prepared every furrow, every furrow,
and made the dry land into good earth.
Then you softened the fields with your showers;
with your blessing we reap what we sow.

Every field overflows with abundance,
every pathway sprouting with promise!
Every meadow and moorland is dancing;
every mountain and valley, rejoice!

Sheep and cattle graze by the river,
swollen orchard spreads through the valley.
Golden grain sweeps to distant horizon,
let the earth sing and dance for their God.
